Here's What You'll Experience In 5 Days

Don't take our word for it. Experience the approach live and see your own progress across 5 days.

Live Coach-Led Sessions Every day live on Zoom with Atul. Guided movement, real-time corrections and a clear progression, not another routine to follow alone.	Supported, Pain-Safe Movement Walls, belts, blocks and simple modifications help you work through each movement without forcing the area that's already doing too much.	Unload Before You Strengthen Learn how to take the load off first, using breath work and supported movement before asking your body to do more.
Wake Up Your Inner Support Activate the deeper muscles around your core, spine, hips and joints that are meant to help carry the load.	Build Strength Into Movement Progress from supported work into standing movements that build strength, stability and better movement through your back, neck and knees.	Real-Time Form Corrections Atul watches how you move, makes adjustments and gives you the right variation, so you're not left wondering if you're doing it correctly.

Measure Your Own Progress

Score how you feel at the start and again on Day 4, so you can see your own change rather than simply taking another promise on faith.

Here's what you'll experience in 5 days.

A simple, live postpartum recovery reset — so you can feel the difference before committing long-term.

Live Physio-Led Recovery Sessions

Every day live on Zoom with Dr. Ankita and team. No random workouts, no pre-recorded confusion — just guided, real-time recovery support.

Safe, Home-Based Movements

No equipment. No gym. Gentle, corrective movements designed specifically for DR, mummy pouch, leaks, and weak core.

Core & Pelvic Floor Reconnection

Learn how to activate, breathe, and control pressure step-by-step so your belly, hernia risk, and leakage don't worsen.

Posture & Daily Movement Corrections

Fix the small daily habits (feeding, lifting, sitting) that increase internal pressure and delay healing.

Recovery for Real Mom Life

Feel stronger, more stable, and more energetic with recovery habits that combine corrective movement and simple postpartum nutrition for everyday life.

Live Guidance & Form Corrections

Clear instructions, real-time feedback, and adjustments so you're not just moving — you're healing safely and correctly.

Postpartum Nutrition That Supports Healing

Simple, practical nutrition guidance to reduce bloating, support tissue healing, improve energy, and fuel recovery without crash dieting or restrictive meal plans.

Your 5-Day Schedule

A step-by-step 5-day progression, with each session building on the last.

Day 1

Unload & Release

Start by taking pressure off the areas doing too much. Guided breathing, supported movement, gentle spinal mobility and prop-assisted positions help you move without forcing the painful area.

Day 2

Breathe & Brace

Use breath work to settle tension before introducing the deeper stabilising muscles around your core, spine, hips and joints. Begin building the support your body has been missing.

Day 3

Strengthen & Support

Progress into controlled strengthening with mindful breathing and safe alignment. Build strength through the deep core and spinal support system while learning how to move with greater control.

Day 4

Stand Tall & Measure

Bring everything together through standing movements, hip opening, leg strengthening and better alignment. Then measure your progress and see what's changed since Day 1.

Day 5

The Next Step

Understand what your 5 days have actually shown you, what still needs to change, and how to continue building the strength, mobility and movement habits that create lasting progress.

Does this sound like you?

- Your back, neck or knee pain keeps coming back, even after trying exercises and stretches.
- You wake up feeling stiff, or find yourself avoiding certain movements because they hurt.
- You're afraid of making things worse, so you've stopped doing the activities you actually enjoy.
- You've tried random YouTube routines and workouts, but still don't know what your body actually needs.
- You're tired of managing the pain day after day and want a clear, guided approach to move better and feel stronger.

Does this sound like you?

☐ You tried workouts but your belly, Diastasis Recti, or leaks never improved.

☐ Every "free challenge" gave motivation, but no real healing.

☐ You're scared to exercise because you don't want to worsen DR or leakage.

☐ Your mummy pouch doesn't change no matter how hard you try.

☐ You're tired of guessing and want structured guidance that actually makes sense.

Real People Who Refused To Let Pain Decide What They Could & Couldn't Do

From working professionals and busy parents to people who had stopped moving the way they used to, these are real people who used the Inner Brace Method to improve their mobility, build strength and move with greater ease.

Who Is Atul, And Why Does He Teach You To Move Differently?

Atul is an E-RYT 500 certified yoga educator with 16+ years of teaching and practice, who has supported 1,000+ clients and trained 500+ teachers.

Over the years, he saw a common pattern. People with persistent back, neck and knee discomfort were often told to stretch more, strengthen more or simply push through it, without understanding how they were actually moving.

That led him to develop a more structured approach that combines breath work, supported movement, strengthening and real-time correction to help people build better movement patterns progressively.

"You don't need to push through pain. You need to learn how to support your body and move with greater awareness."

That's the thinking behind the Inner Brace Method™, and this 5-Day Challenge gives you the opportunity to experience the approach live before deciding what comes next.

• MEET YOUR GUIDE

Who is Dr. Ankita and why she doesn't teach guesswork.

Dr. Ankita is a physiotherapist, certified nutritionist, and mom who understands that postpartum recovery isn't just about exercise. It's about helping your body heal through the right movement, nutrition, and daily habits.

She saw too many moms doing "random workouts" that actually made their belly gaps and leaks worse. She spent 12 years and helped 4,000+ moms learn one simple truth:

"Healing isn't about working harder; it's about doing the right things in the right order."

That's why she created this 5-Day Challenge — so you can try the method first and see the results for yourself before spending more money.

Why This Works.

Most programmes either tell you to stretch more, strengthen more, or rest more. But if the same back, neck or knee discomfort keeps returning, doing more of the same isn't necessarily the answer.

The Inner Brace Method™ changes what you do, and the order you do it in.

01

Unload Before You Stretch

Take pressure off the areas already doing too much before asking them to move further.

02

Brace Before You Strengthen

Reconnect your body's deeper support before adding more load.

03

Move Without Forcing

Use breath, props and controlled mobility to restore movement without pushing through stiffness.

04

Strengthen What Supports You

Build strength through your core, hips, spine and joints so the load isn't concentrated in one area.

05

Retrain Everyday Movement

Take that new support into sitting, standing, bending, walking and the movements you do every day.

That's why people start noticing...

- Less stiffness in the morning
- Easier movement through the day
- More comfortable sitting, standing & walking
- Less tension through the back, neck & knees
- Better mobility without forcing a stretch
- More strength & stability in everyday movement
- Greater confidence in how their body moves
- A body that feels stronger, steadier & easier to move

Results vary from person to person.

That's why moms notice...

 Belly feels flatter (without crunches)	 Urine leaks reduce or stop	 Back pain eases
 Less bloating after meals	 Digestion feels lighter	 Better recovery between sessions
 Energy improves		 Confidence returns

Come to Day One. Then Decide.

Join Day 1 of the 5-Day Pain Reset Challenge and experience the Inner Brace Method for yourself.

If you attend Day 1 and decide it's not for you, simply let us know by the end of the day and we'll refund your £6 in full.

That's it.

Come to Day 1. Experience the approach. Then decide if it's right for you.

From here, you have two options.

Option 1

Keep stretching, resting and trying random exercises, hoping the stiffness eventually settles, without really understanding what your body needs to move and strengthen differently.

Option 2

Take the next step and experience the Inner Brace Method through 5 days of live, coach-led movement, breath work and strengthening, so you can learn how to support your body and start moving with greater strength, stability and ease.

Let's be honest, this works.
Now you have two options from here.

X OPTION 1

Ignore this, go back to guessing and random workouts, and stay in the same situation with your mummy belly, DR, leaks, and confusion.

✓ OPTION 2

Take action and get a doctor-designed postpartum diagnosis + personalized recovery and nutrition roadmap, so you know exactly what's blocking your recovery and what to do next safely.

Frequently Asked Questions

Is this just another stretching or exercise routine?

No. This is a live, coach-led programme built specifically for back, neck and knee pain, using a named method, the Inner Brace Method. Every session is sequenced around what your body needs to unload and support first, not a generic set of stretches.

I've tried exercise routines before and they didn't help, or made things worse. Why would this be different?

A generic routine isn't sequenced for a back, neck or knee that's already guarding and the wrong movement on an irritated area can make things worse. That's exactly why the Inner Brace Method starts by taking the load off before asking anything to stretch or strengthen. Nothing is forced, and every movement is adapted live by your coach.

My employer already gives me a free app for this. Why would I pay for a challenge?

Those apps are useful, but they're self-guided — nobody is watching how you move or correcting you in real time. This challenge is live, with a coach adjusting what you're doing as you're doing it. It's a different kind of support, not a replacement.

Isn't physiotherapy enough?

Physiotherapy is a great first step, and this isn't a replacement for medical care. What we often hear is that the exercises help while the sessions are happening, and things drift back afterwards. This challenge focuses on the ongoing part, learning to move differently day to day, for longer than a six-week course.

I've already spent money on this problem. Why would this be different?

Because most approaches focus on where it hurts, not on why the load keeps landing there in the first place. This method starts by unloading the area, then rebuilding the support around it, the sequence itself is what's different, not just another set of exercises.

Will this fix my pain in 5 days?

No and we won't tell you it will. Five days is enough to safely experience the method, understand what your body needs, and see your own progress from Day 1 to Day 4. Most people notice a real shift by session three or four; lasting change comes from the months that follow, not the five days alone.

What if I can't make the live session time?

Every session runs twice a day, 7 AM and 7 PM, so you can pick whichever fits. Live sessions are how the coaching and real-time correction work, so we don't offer indefinite replays.

What happens after the 5 days?

Day 5 is where we talk about what your 5 days actually showed you, and how to keep building on it if you'd like to continue. There's no obligation, it's entirely your decision.

Is this safe if I have a diagnosed condition?

If you have a diagnosed condition where your clinician has advised against certain movement, please check with them first. This programme is a complement to medical care, not a replacement for it.

Important Information Before You Start

SuperMe is a yoga and movement education service. It is not a medical service and is not a substitute for medical care.

Nothing on this page is medical advice, a diagnosis, or a treatment plan. The 5-Day Pain Reset is designed to provide guided movement, breath work, mobility and strengthening education. It is not intended to diagnose, treat or manage a diagnosed medical condition.
